Top Ranked Engineering Firm Hires Top Ranked Design-Build Firm

Denver, CO -- June 23, 2006 -- dcb Construction Company, Inc. (dcb), a locally owned and operated construction company, was recently selected to design and build a 10,000 square foot office renovation for Vision Land Consultants, Inc.'s (Vision Land) new corporate headquarters in Golden, Colorado. Construction on this project began May, 2006 and is scheduled for completion in late July.

Vision Land, a leader in consulting civil engineering and construction management and ranked one of the top engineering firms in Colorado, was founded by Derek Williams in April 1998 and employs a staff of 36 with 10 licensed professional engineers. Vision Land specializes in residential and commercial engineering, transportation engineering, and drainage/flood control engineering for all types of real estate projects. As partners on any project, Vision Land creates quality construction documents that compliment any entitlement program. Having vast experience and understanding of the preparation of due diligence reports and large mixed-use master plans, Vision Land is superb at handling all phases of engineering requirements.

“Over the past eight years, Vision Land Consultants has developed long term relationships with some great clients. This growth, and planned future growth, has necessitated the need to move to our new space in Genesee Business Park. We are excited about the future of Vision Land with plans to expand into the transportation and traffic sectors as well as adding a structural component,” said Williams, President and CEO. “These new components will fit well with our current services of civil engineering and construction management. We owe our success to the commitment we have to provide quality work and on-time service. Not deviating from this philosophy has served us well over the years and none of this would have been possible were it not for the incredible people that work at Vision Land. Providing this new office environment is one of the many things we do to keep our employees," Williams concluded.

With the completion of their new corporate headquarters by end of summer, 2006, Vision Land anticipates substantial growth within the next five years. This growth will include the expansion of their construction management services as well as their transportation and traffic division and possibly the structural and land planning divisions.

A respected builder since 1960, dcb began concentrating on design-build projects from its inception and today is ranked Colorado's fifth largest design-build firm by Colorado Construction Magazine. dcb is currently celebrating its 46th anniversary of providing general construction and design-build construction services to owners, users and developers across the Front Range.
